CLOSER LOOK: Colt has worked solidly since a horrible trip in the Kentucky Derby when he was squeezed past the stands the first time, and when he finally got clear, he was clobbered by eventual third finisher Danza; he also didn't get the best of trips in the Blue Grass when racing 6 wide; expect him to be closer to the pace this time; distance should suit him being noting stamina influence of Dynaformer and he signaled he is feeling pretty good about himself after the best of 42 spin on the 24th and the sizzling 1:10 and change move the end of May; not sure he was beating anybody in in the last victory; the place horse on April 4 was 7th on the under card Derby Day in a Grade 2 turf event; value will be there, should be rolling late if at all.

This meteor will take his tactical speed to the track in an attempt to go into the record books; he has had a tendency to get off a step slowly but that has not deterred him from winning the first 2 legs; the signature move of opening up at the top of the lane has worked to perfection of late and he again figures to get a solid stalk and pounce trip; after his final Derby time was the slowest on a fast strip since 1974, his time in the Preakness was the fastest since Curlin went 1:53.46 in 2007; in the work on the a week ago the colt got the last quarter in :23.33 and he galloped out in :59.59 and got 6 furlongs in 1:12.76; it just could be a matter if he can get this grueling distance; history awaits.

Pletcher charge seems ambitiously placed; he has been a bad actor at the gate at times but note he was tons best of the rest in the Gulfstream finale; it's possible he never really enjoyed the going last time too; colt's dam was sprint only earner of over $900K but he is kin to Title Contender, who took a Grade 3 routing and was 2nd beaten a length and a quarter in a mile and three eighths stakes; connections are confident he will enjoy this marathon distance; being a new shooter in the Belmont is not a bad thing of late; since 2000 12 of the last 14 Belmont winners did not compete in the Preakness; still eligible for an N1X, needs break out race.

Soph has more speed than he has flashed of late; note he was only a half length off a :46 half in his second start and would expect him to get into this race earlier; the way he finished at Churchill suggests the trip will be within his realm but you really don't want to come from the clouds in this Classic; on top of that there doesn't appear to be a ton of speed in here; he has drilled solidly reportedly working his best ever in the drill last week; Stewart has indicated this runner is coming to this race stronger weight-wise than last year's Derby second Golden Soul, who Stewart also trained and ran 9th in this race; expect rider to take a little hold, get him to settle, try to save ground, and then look for a seam to run through late.

Bothered early in the Oaklawn finale and in the Derby he took a left turn out of the gate and paid the price; like the way he was coming late in Baltimore but he must prove he can win something other than a sprint; on a positive note his 2-time Horse of the Year sire earned over $6.6 million routing and the lone full sister to graduate was 2nd twice routing, beaten only a nose once at 8 and a half furlongs; galloping mostly since the Preakness, like fact he got a feel of the surface with maintenance drill a week ago; there is a concern about whom he has beaten as the place horse in the 2014 debut ran out of the money in an optional claimer since and the place horse in the maiden breaker is one for 5 since; still don't ignore.

Colt opened his career the right way but has only been in the money three times since; bothered early in his Laurel finale and he ran into a road block in the Tesio, but that happens when a runner has limited speed; he does have a right to get the trip; when his sire won the 10-furlong Jockey Club Gold Cup, he was extending late increasing his winning margin by over 4 lengths from the top of the lane to the wire; his dam was route only and she dropped a half sis that won long; backers will have to hope a duel occurs, they go bonkers early, the race falls apart, and this racer finds a lane to rally into in time.

Capable runner has been a fighter in his career; he brings positional speed to the table but proved in the Gotham that he can settle and still kick; he did get a good trip in the Derby when he broke well, got clear, gave his best but was just not good enough; Empire-bred has some grit to him and he has the speed to be in the fray from the sound of the bell and have the destiny in his own hands; the recent mile works should have helped his stamina and the fact he broke his maiden here is a plus; slight improvement and he could have an upset on his agenda; since 2000, 7 horses raced in the Derby, skipped the 2nd jewel and won the Belmont including last year's hero Palace Malice.

Son of Roman Ruler opened career in the right way but he's been a bit snakebitten of late; he did something in the only win this year that you don't see everyday and that's come back on after losing the lead; he ran his eyeballs out in defeat in the Fountain of Youth but has not been able to match that Beyer since; in tight and forced to steady in the Derby and it didn't get much in the Preakness when he was forwardly placed along the inside, was in contention between rivals, was shuffled back on the far turn, was re-energized and finished with interest; nice move on the 31st and the 2nd best time of 1:01 was posted by Burn the Mortgage, who has earned nearly $300K and last won in a $50K claimer; it could be a new ballgame with a clean trip.

He has proven he can handle any kind of going and the win over the track is a major plus; winner on 2/22 took the Fountain of Youth next out and 4th finisher 2/22 took the Wood; in the drill a week ago, this Peter Pan hero worked in blinkers and broke off a couple of lengths in front of workmate Life in Shambles and the duo got their final quarter in :23.06; they galloped out 6 furlongs in 1:12.91 Life in Shambles can run; he lost his debut but won his next pair and was 2nd beaten a head in a $100,000 stakes at Pimlico; Beyers are going in the right direction; if he inherits the lead, it may not be the best thing as only 2 horses since 1984 have gone wire-to-wire in this classic and the last was Da Tara in 2008; very dangerous. -Brian Mulligan
