CLOSER LOOK: He was motoring late in last as he got the last furlong in :12.19; the horse he beat a neck in the maiden breaker returned to graduate and then was second a neck in a $100,000 stakes at Oaklawn; although this racer's dam was sprint only and he is the lone foal, his sire was a double winner of the Breeders' Cup Classic; in good hands but he has had two tough races in a row and now he faces his toughest test yet; going back to the 2013 closer, his Beyers have been on the increase and one could envision a trip where he will sit a bit farther off the pace than where he has been; he'll need to make another step forward to get there; no rail drawn entrant in the Preakness has hit the exacta since Tabasco Cat won the race in 1994.

Tough colt competes and he did have trouble last time; he steadied in close quarters leaving the 6-furlong pole, dropped to the rail, moved back out, was making progress with an eighth of a mile to go, and then was forced to steady near the wire; 2 regressions on the Beyer scale since posting the triple digit figure against arch-rival Wildcat Red; he should be able to use his tactical speed to advantage here but there are others with designs on the lead; needs a rebound run.

He had the 5 tough races in a row and will be trying to win for the third time in 6 weeks; the signature move keyed his Derby win when he opened up and had enough left in the tank to hold it together while being wrapped up in the process; in this day and age, runners are not really made to come back this fast in just 2 weeks but that is how the game is played; the shorter trip could work to his advantage and his tactical speed figures to again put him in the position to score; although his final Derby time was the slowest on a fast strip since 1974, this meteor is still the king of the hill until he is knocked off the mountain; they will have to run to beat this colt; 8 of the last 12 Derby favorites returned to run first or second in this classic.

Out to make amends but runner has looked like a new horse this year; since 1970, only 7 runners won the second jewel after skipping the Derby and that last was the brilliant Racht Alexandra in 2009; note he was getting a little late in both of the wins; the horse that beat him at Calder was coming off a 7th in the Fountain of Youth and then returned to press and fade badly in Tonalist's Peter Pan; the horse that ran second in the Tampa finale has been crushed since and is coming off a troubled 17th in the Kentucky Derby; he does have positional speed and that should help him get first run on the stone-cold closers; this colt's best asset could be his ability to relax and kick.

Brings legit speed and has only run poorly once and that was off the 2-month layoff; he was game in the last race but the stewards got involved; this runner would have been highly regarded in the California's Chrome San Felipe but he had a setback with a foot bruise but showed up in the Arkansas Derby to run a well-beaten third; the blood is there as his sire won the Grade 1 Suburban at the Kentucky Derby distance with a 103 Beyer; dam was unraced and both of his siblings won routing; speed has been his game but Baffert takes off the blinkers in the hopes that this racer will be in a tracking mode; the May 5 move was solid and in the drill last Monday he worked outside of Graded stakes winner Drill; respect.

Filly has only finished in front once and the place in that maiden breaker has lost twice in maiden claiming land since; runners don't want to be too far out of it early in this race; the half-mile leader has been in the exacta in this fixture in 4 of the last 5 years; she trained forwardly going into the Oaks last time but just never fired; she has a shot not to be intimidated by males as she graduated against the boys; the place horse in that race is 0 for 2 since; blinks off today just like they were for maiden breaker; has to run the race of her life.

Colt seems to be improving by the hour; the win over the Pimlico surface can't hurt; he did only beat 5 last time and they were the same group he handled in March; the way he has extended in the last pair suggests he will adore this distance; he has only run one poor race in his career and that was on the turf; with an expected legit pace, he should be making a valid impact down the lane; he has closed into very moderate pace scenarios in his last pair and should get legit splits to tackle today; reformed claimer will be rolling late if at all.

He seems to have taken to the surface if the drill last Monday is any indication; showed talent from the beginning and the smasher over Honor Code was the coming out party; note Honor Code was over 17 lengths in front of the third finisher, who also was 17 ahead of the next rival; game in the Wood, he was set to run at Gulfstream Kentucky Derby day but scratched because of a bruised hoof; this runner is very intriguing; in the Wood, he set a legit pace but had nothing left at crunch time; final time on March 12 set the track record; as far as the pedigree is concerned, stamina should be there as his sire won Grade 1 races routing and was second in Mine That Bird's Kentucky Derby in 2009; expect huge effort from this up and comer.

One of the few that will try Chrome again; took a left turn out of the gate last time and paid the price; he was still able to make up ground late; could have sulked when he was bumped early and hung wide in the Oaklawn finale but he still tried; he ran into a horse that was putting in a solid performance that day and Danza proved it was no fluke with the Derby 3rd; only beaten a length in the Rebel and over the last 10 years 5 exited that race to win here in Baltimore; this racer must prove he can win something other than a sprint; on a positive note his 2-time Horse of the Year sire earned over $6.6 million routing and the lone full sister to graduate was 2nd twice routing, beaten only a nose once at 8 and a half furlongs; improvement expected. -Brian Mulligan
